Camp Baker is a fun, dynamic summer camp specifically designed for children ages 6-12 with mild to moderate symptoms of ADHD. At Camp Baker, children participate in traditional summer camp activities, such as swimming, sports, and art. Children also engage in academic periods to focus on maintaining academic progress, learn about the importance of group problem-solving, team building and environmental awareness. Children are taught one new social skill per day and then practice and receive feedback on their performance using the skill with other children in real-world settings. Parents participate in our programming through weekly parent training sessions. In this way, parents learn the skills that allow children to have such great success at Camp Baker.

Camp Baker is a part of Judge Baker Children’s Center, which strives to improve the quality of children’s mental health by translating research into programs and services that change lives. For over 100 years, Judge Baker has been instrumental in creating a continuum of care that supports children’s healthy development at the policy, systems, and practice levels. Our research, direct programs and services, training, and advocacy make Judge Baker a preeminent voice and active resource on issues of children’s mental health.

Based on the award-winning, nationally recognized Summer Treatment Program (STP), Camp Baker is a six-week summer camp that helps set kids with mild to moderate symptoms of ADHD up for success. Children participate in fun, typical camp activities while receiving structured treatment that has been proven to work.

Treatment is tailored to meet the needs of each and every child:
- Children receive a tremendous amount of encouragement, praise, and positive reinforcement, and their good behavior is recognized and rewarded.
- Children receive individualized daily report cards with curated, personal goals updated each week using behavioral data.
- There is a high emphasis placed on teamwork, collaboration, good sportsmanship, and developing long-lasting friendships.

Caregivers are active participants too:
- Weekly parent groups help caregivers learn and maintain the gains made at Camp Baker while fostering a community of support.
- Caregivers receive daily check-ins with their child’s staff at pick up and stay in the loop on their child’s day-to-day behavior and progress.
- Parents feel like they have the tools they need to be effective in parenting at home and in advocating for their kids at school.

HOW DOES CAMP BAKER WORK?

Highly trained counselors use enthusiasm, praise, and specific intervention strategies that have been shown to work.

The treatment approach is integrated into every activity during the camp day, including art, swimming, sports, social skills training, academics, and experiential learning.

Children stay within the same small, age-based group throughout the summer, developing meaningful, long-lasting relationships with peers and counselors.

Each child has individualized goals to work towards. They receive regular feedback and support from caring staff so that they can achieve and exceed their goals.
