WHAT IS THE STP?

- The Summer Treatment Program (STP) is a six week day program during which your child will learn effective ways to manage ADHD and behavior problems.

- Treatment is tailored to each child’s behavioral problems, emotional needs and learning difficulties.

- Each child will participate in daily activities of sports, games, art, and academic instruction.

- Parents will participate in weekly parenting support groups throughout the summer.

WHERE IS THE STP LOCATED?

The STP is held at Judge Baker Children’s Center in the Mission Hill section of Boston.

53 PARKER HILL AVENUE
BOSTON, MA 02120

HOW DOES THE STP WORK?

- The STP accepts children ages 6-12.

- Children are placed into groups of twelve, taught by specialized counselors and supervised by a clinical psychologist.

- Counselors carry out behavior modification programs designed to treat children’s problems in a group and/or classroom context.

- Children learn to control their behavior through praise, positive reinforcement and reward systems.

- Individualized instruction is provided.

- Children thrive in this environment and the days will pass quickly.
